

Overview

Our lawyers have a deep understanding of the telecoms sector and offer transactional and advisory services to telecom companies, internet service providers, satellite companies, media companies, and government regulatory agencies. We have extensive knowledge of the requirements of licensing, compliance, dispute resolution, infrastructure sharing, financing projects and drafting agreements. Our lawyers provide litigation services on disputes arising in this sector. We keenly follow changes in information technology and the law to give our clients innovative and effective solutions in areas such as software licensing, IP, defamation, infrastructure arrangements, spectrum auctions and e-commerce. The firm also represents clients in ADR and litigation.
